

This is the second book that continues my grandfather's wild adventures as a United States Life-Saving Service member on the Great Lakes. The dangers of the harsh weather and daring rescues continue, as well as the growing love affair between my grandfather and grandmother. When the exciting challenges of the first book ended, it was just the beginning of wilder adventures awaiting these two amazing people.