

This romance/adventure story takes place in the liveliest art city in the world, Florence, Italy. A romance develops between an American, art-challenged man on a motorcycle and Mary, an art student from Syracuse University. Since Mary had been staying in Florence for the past two months, she knew the city well and was an excellent tour guide. The love affair will expand way past that of an art education. The art and culture of Florence will be described in detail, as well as out-of-the-way places that only the local people know about.
